Hiring Manager

Amazon

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Data Analyst position at Amazon. I believe my skills in programming and analytics will be an advantage to the company. I am grateful to have this opportunity at such a prestigious company.

Being the lead Data Analyst at Previous Company LLC, my main task was to ensure efficiency and communication between my team and stakeholders to provide the most optimal outcome for our projects. I have completed numerous projects during my time at Previous Company LLC, more notably the customer experience algorithm currently being used by the company.

Making operations and customer experience increase is among my top priorities. I am always looking between the cracks to find any detail that could lead to success. I have had many successes in my career and plan to accomplish many more here at Amazon.

Thank you for considering me for this position. I look forward to gaining experience at Amazon. My abilities will enhance performance and company operations by considerable margins.

Sincerely,

Heath Dingus
